A: Turns out there is a nuget package that you can download that has just what you need. You can use the pattern matching to convert the string into what you want. and then to pull out the properties you need, instead of blindly searching for the word. Basic Sciences, Intermediate Level STROBE-SeQ is a computer-based assessment system that measures proficiency in English and a concentration of 20 general education educational course concepts (the SEQ). The system measures reading and listening skills for all students at either 2 or 4 tiers. The 2-tier system measures the performance of all elementary and middle school students and the 4-tier system measures the performance of all elementary school students.
